

In celebration of Black History Month, we looked at the work of Paul Williams. He was a black architect who learned to draw upside down. In 1957 he was the first African American elected a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects. In nursery we tried to copy Paul William's design.

In nursery we have been learning about our five senses – sight, smell, touch, taste and hearing. We see with our eyes, we smell with our noses, we listen with our ears, we taste with our tongue, and we touch with our skin.
